

PRESS RELEASE

Lanitis Group and Cyprus Seeds Invest in the commercialisation of academic research and innovation

The Lanitis Group joins forces with Cyprus Seeds with the aim of taking groundbreaking academic research, and the talent of Cypriot scientist to the real market. This collaboration aligns with the vision of both organizations for continuous evolution, pioneering, and quality enhancement, aiming to secure a dynamic perspective.

Cyprus Seeds is a non-profit organization with a mission to support the commercialisation of scientific research projects with strong intellectual property value and dynamic international-level potential, from Cypriot universities, research institutions, and Centres of Excellence. It provides the opportunity for talented researchers and students to explore, develop, and take to the market their innovative ideas.

At the same time, the Lanitis Group is one of the most significant and largest business and investment organizations of Cyprus, which has historically played a pioneering role in the areas in which it operates, actively participating in the development of the economy and society of the country. The long-standing and extensive experience and expertise of the Group's companies, as well as its wide network of partners and investors, will contribute to the efforts of Cyprus Seeds for the smooth integration of innovative ideas and projects into the real market.

The Lanitis Group joins existing supporters of Cyprus Seeds, including the A.G. Leventis Foundation, the Hellenic Initiative, Eurobank Cyprus, PwC Cyprus, and Mohari Hospitality.
